

FCA Certified Collision Network Training Support

The FCA Certified Collision Network, the Automotive Management Institute (AMi), and Mike Anderson’s Collision Advice have teamed up to provide relevant network online training. These online courses have been developed for staff members of FCA Certified Collision Network Shops to assist in improving the FCA customer experience, understanding of the FCA repair and increase the Return on Investment of the FCA Certification. The training, though intended for FCA Collision Network shops, is available to anyone in the industry.

The following online courses, based on role, are either “Required” or “Highly Recommended” by FCA to participate in the FCA Certified Collision Network. The following chart identifies online course requirements by role.
